Taking Flight

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE 2022 COHORT OF GRANTEE PARTNERS
The FRIDA community is thrilled to welcome 98 new grantee partners who were collectively chosen through a participatory decision-making process during our 2022 Call for Applications.

Participatory processes require collective efforts. To engage in co-creation is complex. It is our collective will to build a world that holds our diversity, and is rooted in care that inspires us to keep flying and carrying seeds so that new worlds can be planted.

As the new grantee partners prepare to take flight on this journey within the FRIDA community, it is a time of celebration for everyone who has been part of our participatory grantmaking process.

The 98 groups chosen to join the FRIDA community represent what the young feminist activists who were a part of the process defined as priorities. It is impossible to express enough admiration and gratitude for all the groups who dedicated their time and energy to reading and voting for the applications of the other collectives in their region.

Each group brought its unique perspective and expertise when voting for their peers to be awarded. It is a manifestation of the power of collective action and its potential to transform our communities and world.
This publication celebrates some of the strength, power, and diversity within a community co-created by young feminist activists and also acknowledges that this is an incomplete representation.

It does not include the incredible work of the collectives that were not awarded but played an essential role in this process.

Through the following pages, you will have the beautiful opportunity to get to know the new FRIDA grantee partners and read the love notes they left for those groups that voted for them.

From FRIDA, we also want to leave a love note for all the groups, collectives, and networks who were a part of the participatory grantmaking process:

We are very grateful for all the energy and trust you put into this process. Your work has not gone unnoticed.

May your continued efforts inspire us all to listen more deeply, act more boldly, and work together toward a more just, diverse, and fair world.

Just as the wind carries seeds to new places, so too do the ideas and visions you brought to this process have the power to inspire and transform our communities.

With love and care,

VERONICA, KHENSANI, PAIGE,
AND ALL FRIDA STAFF
This year we received more applications than we ever have, especially for trans rights and disability groups. This reflects the increased needs of young feminist groups around the world but also the vibrancy of their movements.

This cohort includes 43 groups working on LGBTQIA+ rights, with 33 of these groups working with trans people and nearly half working intersectionally, examining the way queer people’s lives are directly impacted by other human rights issues, like climate justice. We’ve also seen an increased number of groups working on Abortion rights (11) and Environmental justice (13).

These increases are a direct reflection of the troubling times most of FRIDA’s grantee partners are living in, where their bodily autonomy and planet are under constant attack. Despite their varied realities, young feminist activists continue to fight back.

“Gate Minds would like to warmly thank the groups who voted for us throughout the selection process and made it possible for us to receive this grant from the Frida Fund.

Without the generous support of these groups, Gate Minds would not be able to facilitate our upcoming project and we are extremely appreciative that you see the good in what we do. Thank you!”

“From our campaign #prideallyear & #togetherstronger:

1. “Beauty is beyond what society believes beauty is. For us, in SafeSpaceBTB beauty is a flower growing in the jungle of cement, humans trying to silence nature, and nature being resilient in their faces. That’s beauty. Being resilient LGBTQIA+ and renaming what beauty and what nature means nowadays for humanity, is beauty”

2. “SafeSpaceBTB uses artivism to move, empower and share awareness of LGBTQIA+ rights which change perspectives and ultimately the societal stigmas. We believe that arts are the language of culture and the memories of history, and also a powerful tool for empowerment, resilience, and healing for a community. We use them to bring change and grow stronger together”

"We’re full of joy, solidarity, and hope about receiving this grant. But we are also full of grief, rage, a spirit of resistance, and of taking up space in a world where ableist demeanor is so deeply rooted. Our disabled bodies coexist with joy and grief, and that is going to be our approach to this grant which will help us take up space in our own way. We are looking forward to creating histories of care with the FRIDA community."

 Cambodia • SSEAP • LGBTQ Rights

SHAKHI: “Friends of Women” is a grassroots young women-led non-governmental, non-profit making, independent organization working in the rural areas of Terai/ Madhesh region of Nepal in the Bara district.

It is led and managed by a group of young girls committed to the development and empowerment of women, girls, and children of marginalized and vulnerable communities.

SHAKHI believes in bringing social cohesion through positive discrimination.

It has been conducting several programs to empower Madhesi girls from schools and communities in the field of capacity building, leadership, and trust building.

SHAKHI is governed by General Assembly which is held every year. It has a 7-member Executive Board to run the programs of the organization.

All the Board members are female and Only women and girls are able to be a member of SHAKHI. It has also committed to working for women and girls only.
Our work revolves around feminist principles including the significance of sexual and reproductive health and rights, most importantly safe abortion.

We are a space to voice out and stand against the patriarchy with a focus on women and girls, also marginalized groups such as sex workers and LGBT+.

SafeSpaceBTB aims to educate, support, and provide a safe space for the LGBTQIA+ community in Battambang, Cambodia. Educate and empower LGBTQIA+ people from the Battambang community through the arts and advocate for the LGBTQIA+ community’s rights educating the general community in Battambang.

Values: Social justice, community, education, empowerment, communication, diversity, creativity, and ‘artivism’.

The main dream of the project is to voice the LGBTQIA+ community, the target group being the LGBTQIA+ community in Battambang province, and SafeSpaceBTB’s team aims to achieve 5 main activities:

1. Capacity building for our team, then the LGBTQIA+ community, and finally the general community: families, NGOs, institutions, and government.

2. Awareness campaigns and social media activities

3. Community Outreach and Engagement activities

4. Creative Arts and Awareness activities

5. Big events through fashion shows, storytelling, and multi-artist art exhibitions on creative, positive ideas and role models on LGBTQIA+ community topics.

AIQA Foundation - All India Queer Association

AIQA Foundation works for women and LGBTQIA+ rights in India. We currently have a shelter home and we also focus on mental health, period equality, SRHR and skill development.

We focus on social and economic equality for everyone. We started from Delhi and are now working across India.
GIRLxGIRL was founded with the purpose of creating a community of queer women where they can be friends, mentors, and even share their stories with other members.

People in the club can also organize or participate in numerous group activities, such as movie nights, sports games, and charity work.

Creating a LGBTQ+ women’s community organization is equivalent to opening a channel for like people to meet, something that may not be typical among friends at school, in the office, or within the family. Multiple experiences will be shared inside the group.

Even untold stories can be shared, since members of this community are free to be themselves and are not judged for what they do or who they are.

We aim to reclaim narratives of disability in India through first person narratives and take up space in our own disabled way.

We honour histories of care, solidarity and those who came before us.
Valkyries Rugby Club is a grassroots women's rugby club in Fiji. Formerly known as the Central Chiefs, it was one of four pioneering women rugby clubs and was founded by Pricilla Siata, Sereima Damuni, Pasemaca Buadromo and Elina Ratauluva, all who were former national reps or the national team now widely known as the Fijiana.

It is led by women from diverse backgrounds and seeks to develop the sport of rugby for young women and girls, as well as for enjoyment. Every time we put on a rugby boot, it is an act of advocacy, representing all women - that we have earned our place in this male dominated sport - that rugby belongs to all, to be enjoyed by all.

The Pink Box Foundation was established in 2019 in Poland and has so far installed over 7000 boxes filled with free pads and tampons across Poland to improve access to menstrual products.

Dismantling menstruation taboos and introducing Pink Boxes to public spaces is a step towards equal opportunities for women, empowering them to discuss the issues that affect them.
Lesbian* Resistance is a queer feminist group uniting queer feminist fighters, healers, and dreamers from different parts of Georgia.

We aim to mobilize, empower each other and bring visibility to our concerns. For us having a non-hierarchical, non-formal structure is crucial and we want to remain radical and free by rethinking the meaning of resistance.

In 2019 we started intentionally sharing feminist books and zines, which led to the creation of the Feminist Library / Bibliofem Facebook page and blog. In the three years since then, the collective has grown and registered as a non-profit organization.
In the past few years Marina and Alba, along with many other gender professionals of colour and Roma, have been experiencing difficulties to find our spaces within the mainstream platforms.

We strive to create a safe space for girls' self-realization by implementing projects in STEAM. And, we also support the idea of sisterhood.
BAGATTYA - Ukrainian feminist educational initiative, influenced by full-scale war in 2022 taken by imperialistic russia. BAGATTYA sees the roots of the war primary in patriarchy: a system of power and inequality that leads to violence and rejection of individuality.

This is exactly what women face in the Ukrainian war and what SQUALL's documentary “Can't stay Can't run” shows. Initiative filmed 11 women of different identities and experiences: woman-military after russian captivity, trans women who stays in Ukraine, survival of the Second World War etc.

The aim of the film is to bring awareness to Women voices, as well as to give women space to reflect on their acute experience, accept it and move forward.

The organization arose from the need to address the problems of the TIGV community in Serbia with a broader intersectional-feminist approach and by using mechanisms that protect gender equality, respect different identities and their freedom of expression, and oppose all forms of oppression.

Our mission is to build a strong, organized, empowered and inclusive TIGV community in Serbia, because we strongly believe that only a movement which is rooted in the community can sustainably provide psychological, social, legal, economic and educational support to its members, as well as successfully fight and resist the growing transphobia.
NTC is a trans* community-based organization based in Yerevan, Armenia. Our vision is to build a society free from discrimination where all gender identities are respected and trans* communities are valued. Our mission is to ensure that the human rights and well-being of trans* people are protected in Armenia. NTC is proud to achieve trans* community mobilization, being the first and only collective to unite Armenian trans* communities around the same purpose.

I think that we, as a constituent part of society, have what we show. Like everyone else, we also know how to dance, we know how to act, we know how to write and we have talents to express apart from sexuality, with which they try to identify us as the only “syndrome”.

Our single aspect and aspiration is brought into a very normal aspect of the community through art, as everyone is used to seeing us through sexism.

The fact that we use “tools” in a different way than most does not mean that we are people without daily life and without passions and aspirations for the future and ourselves as members of the human community above all.

Youth initiative, which aims to inform about multiculturalism, but also to promote human, artistic and professional values of the LGBTQI community.

The purpose of entering the artistry is to promote the passions and talents of the LGBTQ+ community, as we think that this community should not only pay attention to the sexual aspect, but...

“We are extremely thrilled and humbled by your support, and honored to be chosen as one of FRIDA grantee partners. We knew about FRIDA Fund for years and every year when we hear that a call for applications is open, as a young and independent feminist group we used to think that we are not “good enough” to apply for it just yet.

This year we were encouraged by other feminist groups in the region to apply, they supported us to take the first steps of the application process and as we went along with the application process, it felt like feminist heaven! We got to learn about the great work of other groups in our region during the voting process and we even learned how to showcase our own work and impact thanks to the thoughtfully designed questions of the application form.

Usually, funding applications are intimidating and frankly scary but as we completed FRIDA’s funding application we felt that we are learning and developing our identity as a young and queer feminist group and it helped us gain confidence to seek other funding and partnerships to expand and sustain our work. So thank you, for your trust and for making this a positive, participatory, and exciting experience.

In Solidarity,”

We fight to give women the full legal authority to act and make decisions, to support their choices legally and socially, to be able to take steps of their own free will without any pressure or fear.

We are working to achieve legal justice for refugee women away from apartheid and discrimination, as well we seek to prevent all kind of dominations over women in politics, the economic labor market, and new societies by empowering them legally and spreading awareness of women’s rights in law.

Our mission is to provide them an equal right of access to education and to empower them in workplaces and support them in order to ensure their personal and career growth.

A group of young feminist advocating for the rights of women at workplace by providing training on self protection from workplace violence and how to report abuse and demand their rights, our team is the by product of all the daily stories we hear in our region about sexual harassments at work place and no one is speaking up about this topic, we started this project knowing the impact it will have on young females and how we help them live an independent fear free life.
We are a youth-led SRHR organization fighting for autonomy and an individual's right to self-determination.

We work on creating and democratizing the knowledge, spaces, networks, and capacities necessary for social and political mobilization on SRHR and SRHR-related issues in Sudan.

Yerni is an independent, non-registered, and non-hierarchical group, whose work philosophy opts for a positioning in society (it is neither a lifestyle nor a trend) through the creation of an eco-responsible, feminist and queer space based on the anti-sexist movement, as well as the specifically Amazigh Afro vegan gastronomy, whose work on this issue has led to a very specific correlation: the correspondence between the eco-feminism/queer themes and the Amazigh identity of the Afro vegan gastronomy.

Egypt • SWANA

We live as individuals and groups within the small local community. We view ourselves as part of the Egyptian feminist movement and the social movement in its broadest sense.

We seek to bring about change in our local communities by creating new spaces for young women and men interested in journalism from a gender perspective.

Genderist, which is an amalgamation of the two words “gender-press” is one of the local press platforms working to provide southern feminist media coverage which discusses women’s issues and takes into account gender standards.
We work on Solidarity, Capacity building, advocacy and changing the stereotype of LGBT women in the Middle East.

We work with LGBTQ woman's refugees in Lebanon. Building a LGBT culture in the Middle East is a difficult task as we work on developing intellectual and cultural capabilities. Building peace and equality with feminist societies in the Middle East is a primary goal of ours.

The NGO RAGED-Guinea is a Guinean rights organization led by young feminists, especially women. Its main objective is to contribute to the empowerment and promotion of the rights of vulnerable groups and the strengthening of community leadership in the fight against gender-based violence, governance, and environmental protection in the Republic of Guinea.

We strive for gender equality, inclusion, the promotion of human rights especially for girls and women, the fight against gender-based violence, the promotion of community health, the promotion of good governance, and the protection of the environment. Our activities are guided by the spirit of volunteerism and accountability.

Girls in climate change is a Youth-Led Organization with an overarching goal and commitment to put young women and girls at the forefront of the environment and Climate Action issues while building their Capacity to Lead Climate Action in Tanzania and across Africa through Environmental and climate leadership training, dialogues, research, and field activities because of their vulnerability to climate change impacts.
The main goal of our group is to see the restoration of women’s rights where equality between men and women will be observed at the local, provincial and national level.

The Objectives of our group:

- To see women and girls able to identify their rights and defend them;
- To fight social injustices between men and women within the Burundian nation;
- Fight against the stigma that faces sexual minorities and LGBTQI;
- Defend the liberty rights of LGBTQI to exercise their work as they should;
- Promote the economic, social and political empowerment of women within the Burundian nation.

The main activities or strategies used to achieve these objectives are the following:

- Advocacy with community, religious and political leaders;
- Organization of awareness campaigns against violence against women’s rights, campaign against stigmatization of LGBTQI.
We are a group of feminist activist with a goal to empower young girls and women through know your rights trainings.

Our advocacy is rooted in sisterhood and solidarity. We believe that when women and young girls know their rights, they will be in a better position to stand up for themselves and for others.

The NGO aims to provide the local population with whom it works and for whom it works, especially children, youth and peasants, with an enabling environment by basing its operations on the exploitation of tourism.

  EL SALVADOR
Queremos agradecer a todos los grupos que votaron por nuestra organización. En los años de trabajo que tenemos hemos aprendido que las redes intercomunitarias son la principal fuente de apoyo entre nuestras comunidades, reconocernos en el mismo camino de lucha contra la normativa hegemónica para darnos espacio es también reconocer nuestras potencialidades y puntos débiles.

Durante mucho tiempo las organizaciones de transmasculinidades no conformaban parte de apoyos financieros, el Perú, DTM fue la primera organización de transmasculinidades en recibir un fondo hace un par de años. Entre nosotros con nuestras decisiones, votos y acciones estamos reescribiendo esta historia y forjando un futuro más equitativo y justo para todxs y para todas las organizaciones de todas las identidades. Abrazos trans.

- Diversidades Trans Masculinas • PERU

Estaremos inmesamente agradecidas por el apoyo y la confianza que han depositado en nuestro proyecto.

Esperamos continuar trabajando juntas y crear lazos y alianzas para que nuestras voces y demandas sean escuchadas en nuestro territorio.

Love Notes
A space for the organization of transsexual women and black transvestites, built and directed by them.

Because if socially we are thrown to the social margins, we will build a resistance and transform the margins into our space of revolution.

We will remain together, keeping hope on the fight for a feminism that includes us.
Currently, the LGBT+Movimento is the only organization that exclusively and in a specialized way serves LGBTTQIA+ migrants/ refugees in Brazil.

We are made up of LGBTTQIA+ migrants and Brazilians and since 2017, we have been working, with a community focus, on direct support, integration and the creation of networks of affection for LGBTTQIA+ migrants and refugees.

We have a headquarters in the city center of Rio de Janeiro, where we provide face-to-face assistance, but we also provide remote assistance for people who are in other parts of Brazil.

We are a group under construction. We work from an intersectional perspective with diverse bodies around the country.

We aim to create safe and inclusive spaces for trans women, cisgender women, feminized bodies and other genders, through community art and reflective dialogues.

Collectiva Mariposa 88 HN
Honduras • LATAM • Disability Rights

As a collective, we believe in intergenerationality, intersectionality and inclusion, so we work from these approaches sharing experiences, including the diversity of women from different ages and realities.

We are women with disabilities and feminist caregivers defending our human rights by claiming the spaces that have historically been denied from us.
"CIMARRONAS" is an Afro-Bolivian association for young Afro-Bolivian women that gathered to strengthen the identity of young girls, teens and young Afro-Bolivians from rural backgrounds.

Together, we will have dynamic activities of valorization, self-reflection and introspection aimed at helping the empowerment of girls, teens and young women in communities so we can identify ourselves and fully exercise our rights from a cultural belonging perspective.

The foundation process hasn’t been easy; we are part of CONAFRO (Afro-Bolivian National Council) that represents the Afro-Bolivian people (men and women). As young women, and due to our own demands, we managed to occupy decision-making roles inside the organization.

However, a few years ago we felt the need to create our own organization for young women. We’ve seen the way some male leaders resist to our efforts by not allowing us to organize. Despite this, we’ve managed to consolidate our organization and respond to the demands made by young Afro-Bolivian women.

Las Niñas de Guatemala Collective is a team of artist and activist women using art to transform society. We believe art is a way of healing and changing the realities of girls and women in Guatemala. That’s why we explore new ways of socialization through art in public spaces by creating politic art.
Brigada Centinela aims for the decentralization of the feminist movement by bringing gender topics to peripheral communities throughout the politicization of diverse urban art expressions like paste up, graffiti, and muralism.

We talk about topics such as body empowerment, human, sexual and reproductive rights, gender violence and feminine empowerment.

MemoriaLes is a lesbofeminist library that opened in the early 2022 as a project to recover and build up the lesbian memory from all over the world but, more specifically, from our region by inviting people to readings, movie screenings, workshops, festivals, conferences and poetry readings.

We aimed to be an encounter space for lesbian feminists, bisexual, non-binary, trans people and every other identity that questions and escapes from the heteropatriarchal regime.
Our purpose is to give a dignified life to our sisters, TODAY FOR THEM, TOMORROW FOR ALL!

Justice for all those who were silenced, JUSTICE FOR MARISOL CUADRAS, JUSTICE for all those in which their voice and their actions were silenced, Justice for all those families who will not see their daughters, sisters, cousins, aunts...

DTM. We are a Trans organization from Peru that has worked since 2015 for the rights and welfare of transmasculinxs, trans men and boys, and people from the non-binary gender spectrum who were assigned female at birth (AFAB).

Our activism focuses on making visible that the transmasculinxs exist beyond heterosexuality and hegemonic standards.
Kilombo Negrocentricxs

Kilombo Negrocentricxs is a group of Afro-diasporic women organized in Chile, which seeks to create anti-racist strategies from the axes of education, culture, economy and health.

We carry out various activities ranging from creating spaces for reflection for people of African descent, to links with organizations and allied people who seek to learn more about anti-racism.

Colombia • LATAM • Climate & Environmental Justice

We are an organization led by young women and indigenous girls from Colombia who seek the rescue of ancestral knowledge and intergenerational equity to build resilient communities, with the aim of empowering girls and their allies to access the resources, networks and platforms they need to boost their activism, amplifying the voices of indigenous women in climate justice.
Potencia Intersex
Argentina • LATAM • Intersex Rights

Potencia Intersex is a group of intersex people who inhabit the Mapuche-Argentine territory.

We seek to make visible, educate and raise awareness about the experiences lived by our community from a feminist and body diversity perspective.

We believe that this is the best way to raise social awareness of how our human rights are systematically violated and to end genital mutilation and non-consensual interventions carried out daily in all parts of the world.
